NYC Aids City's Supply of Water

About Town And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

Charles Oakley, Wife Win Trip to Bermuda At Lions Meeting

TWO FORMER LOCAL residents did all right this month.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oakley of Murray, Ky. Both are HTHS graduates. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hancock, 220 West Raymond avenue.

The Oakleys and son, Herbie, went to New York City to attend the Lion's International convention. He is a Lions district governor. And it was a trip of coincidence for Mr. and Mrs. Oakley.

First, Mr. Oakley received an expense-paid trip for two to Bermuda. His name was drawn from 3,000 Lions for the trip.

Then comes the co-incidence.

At the district governors' dinner Governor Oakley sat next to a representative from Sweden. His wife attended a dinner for 8,000 women present and guess who was seated next to her? Yep, the wife of the Swedish delegate who sat next to Mr. Oakley.

The Oakleys will select a sailing date for their free trip, sailing on the Queen of Bermuda and staying at the Princess hotel in Bermuda.

THE OZARK TOUR brought about quite a bit of drinking from springs and a friend of mine told me that the other day in the vicinity of Herod he stopped at a spring to get him a drink. He started drinking from the pool and as he looked down into the water he saw some upper plates staring right up at him. He left in a hurry.

DUCK! HERE COMES THE MILK!: An Australian city has proposed the packaging of milk in plastic containers that can be tossed at the house like the morning paper. Food Engineering, a publication, reports.

In Chicago, however, one-fourth of the milk consumed is sold in gallon jugs, indicating, the magazine suggests, that people are learning to buy health in the large economy size.

OH MY GOSH!: Passenger cars may have a top speed of 150 miles per hour within five years, according to the magazine, American Machinist. Those slow 90 mile-per-hour drivers had better park their automobiles or get knocked from the road by a vehicle coming up from the rear. *

AND WE'LL CLOSE with the one about the professor.

"Sad about the disappearance of Professor Hill," said James as he polished his brassie. "He was a profound thinker."

"Yes—always thinking, no matter where he was," replied another clubman. "Fancy, the last time I saw him we were bathing, and he suddenly called out, 'I'm thinking! I'm thinking!'" "You idiot," roared James, "the professor lisped."

Mrs. Nellie Thatcher, Former Resident of Raleigh Community, Dies

Mrs. Nellie Thatcher, 54, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bill McConnell of the Raleigh community, died at her home in Pontiac, Mich., yesterday following a three-months' illness. Death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

She is survived by three children, Keith of Washington, Bob Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. Ann Gatzmeyer, who lived with her mother in Pontiac; and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Ruth Davis, Harrisburg; Mrs. Mary Lowe, Dorris Heights, Mrs. Beulah Sisk, Riverside, Calif.; Mrs. Opal Sisk, Pontiac, Mich., Granville McConnell, Raleigh, and Frank McConnell, Flint, Mich., and several grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Opal Sisk was with her at the time of her death.

Mrs. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Granville McConnell left today for Pontiac where the funeral will be Saturday.

Donates 36 Million Gallons in Its Reservoir

Railroad's Action Comes in Response to Plea by Mayor Horning

The Harrisburg water supply received a shot in the arm late yesterday from the New York Central railroad, when officials of the NYC turned over its reservoir here to the city.

The reservoir has been estimated to contain 36,000,000 gallons of water, which is an approximate 25-day supply for the community.

Action came after Mayor Ralph Horning Jr. wrote the railroad seven days ago, asking for the water to supplement the present supply.

He got a quick response. Yesterday four officials of the railroad came to Harrisburg and approval was given.

Water Free To City

Coming here were H. E. McGovern, engineer maintenance of way, from Indianapolis, in charge of all maintenance of way forces on the Big Four; A. A. Keever, assistant engineer maintenance of way; R. L. Geis, division engineer, Illinois division, from Mattoon; J. T. Sullivan, assistant division engineer, Mattoon.

Walter W. Wirth, agent at Harrisburg, co-operated fully in the negotiations between the city and the railroad.

It was Mr. Sullivan who made the estimate from his reservoir figures that there are 36,000,000 gallons of water in the reservoir.

The water will be absolutely free to the city, Mayor Horning said. And there was no haggling about securing the body of water.

"Boys, it's all yours — take it when you need it," was the reply given to the plea for water, Mayor Horning stated.

To Maintain Restrictions

The water already has been tested and has been pronounced very good. Hardness tests were made here and samples were sent to state laboratories at Springfield and Carbondale for purity tests.

Right now the city is pumping part of its water from Blue Lake, with this being supplemented by water from the reservoir because enough cannot be pumped from Blue Lake to take care of the demands.

However, the reservoir water is getting dangerously low with about three or four weeks supply left and the New York Central reservoir water will be pumped over into the local supply to be used as a supplement to that pumped from Blue Lake.

Mayor Horning said that water restrictions will be kept on.

The lawns got a free sprinkling from Jupiter Pluvius yesterday but not much of one. The rainfall measured 11 at the Pankey Branch pumping station rain gauge. However, the precipitation brought cooler weather. The mercury dropped from a high of around 100 yesterday to 76 this morning.

Exceptionally good rains yesterday were reported from the Carrier Mills and Marion areas and Sturgis, Ky., got a little more than two inches of precipitation. Harrisburg received a small amount of rain this morning to add to the 11 inch.

U.S. Evacuates Air Force Technicians From Indochina

TOKYO (UPI)—Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of Far East Air Forces, announced today that American Air Force technicians sent to Indochina have been evacuated.

Partridge's statement did not indicate where the technicians had been taken.

"The only FEAS personnel remaining in Indochina are air crews and support personnel operating C119 Flying Boxcars of FEAS 315 Air Division," Partridge said.

Graveside Services Held for Infant

Graveside services were held today at 4 p.m. at Sunset Lawn for the stillborn infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Davis, 1309 South Webster. The mother is the former Umenka Stringer. Rev. J. D. McCarty officiated, and the Gaskins funeral service was in charge.

Senators Morse, Gore Attack Bill For Private A-Power

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Republicans leaders took steps today to impose a gag rule on a round-the-clock filibuster against the administration's atomic energy bill.

Formal parliamentary moves to cut off the marathon debate were begun shortly after 1 p.m. At that hour, the Senate had been in continuous session for 27 hours and there was no indication that opponents of the bill were running out of breath.

GOPT Floor Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) announced that he would file a "cloture" debate-ending petition later today. He said he already had more than the 16 signatures required on such a petition.

A two-thirds vote of the full Senate membership — 64 of the 96 senators — is required to curtail debate.

Knowland indicated he was optimistic about mustering that difficult majority. He said there was a "general feeling" among senators of both parties that the use of the gag rule was warranted since the filibuster "has extended beyond the critical votes of yesterday."

Rejected Blocking Amendment

The Senate Wednesday night rejected, 56-36, an amendment designed to block the administration's controversial plan to sign a long-term contract for the Atomic Energy Commission to purchase private power to be fed into the TVA system. In a subsequent vote, it gave positive authority for the contract, which had been the chief bone of contention in debate on the atomic bill up to that time.

The opposition attack switched today to other provisions of the bill which would authorize private firms to build atomic power plants.

The Senate's champion speaker, Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.), held the floor for 6 hours and 13 minutes with an oration which he described as merely a warm-up.

Young Folks Will Have Special Tent At Saline Fair

Rosiclare Plans Community Development Program

When the annual Saline county fair opens in Harrisburg Monday, August 2, there will be a special meeting place for young people of teen-age.

A concrete floor 20 by 40 has been built at the southwest side of the floral hall, and a tent will be placed over this floor by the fair association, with the entire control of the area to be turned over to the young people of this area, without charge.

They may install a record player for their entertainment, and it is anticipated during a part of the fair an orchestra to be organized from the HTHS band will furnish music.

The young people will be given full lee-way in organizing their week's program, subject to adult advisory service.

Youth Admits Auto Involved in Collision Stolen in Chicago

A Chicago youth is held today in the county jail after he admitted to county officers the car he was driving that figured in a collision was stolen in Chicago.

He is Alexander Herron, 18, who was en route from Chicago to Memphis, Tenn., to visit his grandmother. The auto, said to belong to Vergis Giles of Chicago, was taken early yesterday and it hit a Triangle Construction Co. truck operated by Everett Jackson, 31, of Harrisburg Route 2, at a barriade three miles south of town about 1:30 p.m.

Formal parliamentary moves to cut off the marathon debate were begun shortly after 1 p.m. At that hour, the Senate had been in continuous session for 27 hours and there was no indication that opponents of the bill were running out of breath.

Atomic Filibuster, Delay On Farm Debate Hits Congress Adjournment

CORN CROP DAMAGED—Midwest heat wave is causing the top leaves and tassels of cornplants to wither. Here Arthur Clark, who operates farms near Homer, Ill., points out damage on his field of seed corn. Federal crop officials said another week of intense heat and no rain would probably cause serious damage to the Illinois crop. Some of the east central fields have been damaged beyond recovery. (NEA Telephoto)

By United Press

A filibuster against atomic energy legislation and postponement of Senate farm bill debate apparently knocked out hope today for congressional adjournment July 31.

Passage of any farm legislation at all this year may be in doubt.

As the Senate headed into what looked like a second all-day and all-night session on the atomic revision bill, Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture committee agreed to a one-week postponement of farm bill debate.

Voting for the combination measure were 207 Republicans, 20 Democrats, and Rep. Frazier Reams, Independent from Ohio.

The rejected bill carried proposals to increase from three to four cents the cost of stamps on the first ounce of out-of-town mail, raise airmail stamps from six to seven cents and hike second and third class rates by varying amounts.

Aiken said prospects of farm legislation in this session are dimming, particularly if the Republican leadership insists on trying to meet its July 31 adjournment goal.

Continuous Session Since 10 a.m. Wednesday, and GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) said he would keep it going until he gets a vote.

Other Congress highlights:

Health: The House voted to salvage part of President Eisenhower's health program. It added to an appropriations bill $15,700,000 to help in building hospitals and other facilities for the aged, chronically ill, and physically disabled.

The President had asked 35 million dollars but the Appropriations committee refused to vote anything.

Housing: Arthur Weber, Los Angeles builder, said federal housing officials taught builders how to make windfall profits on government-insured loans. He told Senate investigators he shared in $387,000 in quick profit on two projects. He said FHA officials told him how to do it.

State Matches Funds

He said some aid is available in the form of loans from the federal government, but that most federal farm aid programs would involve spending "considerably more" in state matching funds.

Stratton said the state is "financially sound" and would have funds for such purposes, if the need exists, but a special session would be needed to appropriate the money. The next regular session of the Legislature starts next January.

The chief executive said the

Gov. Stratton Considers Drought Action

GOP Congressmen Urge Stratton Plea To Eisenhower

SPRINGFIELD (UPI)—Gov. William G. Stratton said today a special session of the Illinois Legislature to provide drought relief to farmers is a possibility.

Stratton told a news conference "it is conceivable" that if the situation became "so bad" and farmers were suffering "terrible hardships," he might call the lawmakers into special session.

"A special session would be justified for that purpose," he said.

Meanwhile, at Washington, three Illinois Republican congressmen asked Stratton to request President Eisenhower to declare the drought-stricken sections of Illinois "disaster areas."

They said in a joint telegram to the governor that under the law this is the only way that Illinois livestock men can get government-owned corn at cut-rate prices.

The telegram was signed by Reps. C. W. Bishop, C. W. Vursell and Sid Simpson whose districts cover an area that extends across southern Illinois up into western Illinois.

Corn Not For Sale

"Livestock feeders in Illinois drought areas can not buy corn through commercial channels because no one will sell," the telegram said.

It pointed out that corn accumulated by the government under the price support program cannot be sold for less than 105 per cent of bushel, unless the President finds they are in a "disaster area."

At his conference, the governor said he is awaiting reports on drought damage from State Agriculture Director Stillman J. Standard, however, before he decides exactly what steps he will take.

"We have to determine what the need is before we take any definite action," he said. "By next Monday we should have a definite idea of how much of a program we need."

The governor said the big problem facing many Illinois farmers is how to obtain credit for feed seed.

State Matches Funds

Funeral arrangements for Virgil Baker, former resident of Eldorado who died Tuesday afternoon in a hospital in Detroit, Mich., will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Martin funeral home where the body lies in state. Rev. O. C. Cooper will officiate, and burial will be in the Wolf Creek cemetery.

There's Difference In Kleptomaniacs

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — There are kleptomaniacs and kleptomaniacs, according to a criminologist, Dr. Donald Cressey, of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. Cressey said the genuine kleptomaniac walks into a store with no previous plan to take anything. Suddenly he is attracted to an article and takes it with no effort at hiding either the article or his actions. The operation is completely automatic.

The phony kleptomaniac, he said, is clearly and previously motivated. He differs from a "second story" man only in that he has no economic need for the article he steals. He plans his act in advance and then rationalizes: "I am a kleptomaniac. Therefore it is not wrong for me to take the article."

The real kleptomaniac needs hospitalization, while the other is a criminal and should be treated as such, he concluded.

Blonde from South Carolina to Represent United States for Miss Universe Title

LONG BEACH, Calif. — The United States' hopes for the title of the world's most beautiful girl rested today with statuesque Miriam Stevenson, a "wholesome, all-American type" from the Deep South.

Miriam Stevenson, who entered the contest as Miss South Carolina, won out Wednesday night over 46 other U.S. entries for the honor to compete against 32 foreign beauties in the final judging Friday night.

The 21-year-old blonde was the unanimous choice of the judges, and the other contestants too, for the title of Miss United States.

The 20 semi-finalists, polled by the United Press, had only praise for the selection.

"We're all glad because she's certainly the wholesome, all-American type," said Miss Indiana Cecilia Dennis.

The sparkling winner, who measures 35-24-36 from bust to hips, said she will give up plans for a career in clothes designing to accept a $200-a-week contract with the Universal-International Studio. The total bag of prizes, valued at $7,500, included a new convertible automobile, a three-foot gold trophy, a pearl necklace and a silver compact.

"I haven't had any real acting experience," the new Miss United States drawled, "but I did have a part in the senior class play in college."

Before entering the beauty pageant, Miss Stevenson was a home economics senior at Lander College in Greenwood, S.C. Her home is Winsboro, S.C.

Runners-up to the South Carolina beauty were Ellen Whitehead, Miss Virginia; Karin Butiman, Miss

Georgia Group Studies Eldorado Civic Project

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A "study-cade" of 38 Carroll county, Ga., citizens visited Southern Illinois University's department of community development this week to get first hand information on SIU sponsored citizen projects in better community living.

Meeting with the group which is sponsored by West Georgia college, Carrollton, and the Carroll Service Council, Richard W. Poston, director of the SIU department, explained "Operation Boot-strap," a 25-week civic improvement study being carried on by the citizens of Eldorado under the supervision of Poston and his staff.

The visitors expressed particular interest in the enthusiasm with which this southern Illinois ex-coal town is seeking to build a community that will attract and hold new industry.

Ministers, educators, housewives, farmers, and businessmen make up this study-cade which, traveling at its own expense, will visit other mid-central state colleges and universities before returning home.

According to the Rev. J. Carson Pritchard, director of adult education at West Georgia college and director of the Carroll Service Council, who is in charge of the study group, "Carroll county has a tradition of helping itself. Citizen projects are nothing new to us. We just want to know what other citizens are doing."

Most of the economies made by Mr. Eisenhower and the Republican Congress were at the expense of defense and the foreign aid programs.

Mr. Eisenhower reported the federal debt at the end of the 1954 fiscal year was $271,341,940,494.

Treasury Ends Year with $3 Billion Deficit

Eisenhower Claims Truman Budget was Cut $10.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower reported today he had cut about $10,300,000,000 from former President Truman's federal spending budget for fiscal 1954 which ended last June 30.

Even so, the treasury wound up with a deficit of $3,029,000,000 for the 12 month period. This was about 245 million dollars less than President Eisenhower had estimated last January.

"We have come over two-thirds of the way towards balancing of the budget," Mr. Eisenhower said in a statement. "And we have done this while putting into effect a tax program which will return nearly $7 billion dollars to the people."

Mr. Eisenhower also claimed that his administration's fiscal policies "have halted inflation." He said purchasing power of the dollar has varied only one-half of one cent in the last 18 months.

Laying a Firm Base

"We are laying a firm base for a healthy and expanding economy for better national security, and for more jobs for more people," Mr. Eisenhower said.

The federal government spent about $67,600,000,000 and received in taxes and other revenue about $64,600,000,000 in fiscal 1954. Mr. Eisenhower's estimate last January called for spending of $70,900,000,000 and revenue of $67,600,000,000.

The failure of receipts to be as high as expected indicated the economic dip was more severe than Mr. Eisenhower had anticipated. Individual income taxes were off about one billion dollars from his estimate of last January, and corporation taxes were down about $1,326,000,000.

Less Revenue Than Planned

Thus, smaller revenues than anticipated kept the deficit from being even smaller than it was.

Mr. Truman, in his fiscal 1954 budget sent to Congress in January of 1953, estimated federal expenditures at $77,900,000,000 and receipts at $68 billion dollars. He called this a "tight" budget and said it could not be cut without endangering national security or eliminating essential federal services.

Most of the economies made by Mr. Eisenhower and the Republican Congress were at the expense of defense and the foreign aid programs.

Mr. Eisenhower reported the federal debt at the end of the 1954 fiscal year was $271,341,940,494.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our son, Jerry Simpson, who passed away six years ago, July 22, 1948. There is a gate at the end of the road, through which each must pass alone.

There is a light we cannot see. As our father claims his own.

A gentle voice said, "Come," And with farewells unspoken,

He calmly entered home.

No one hears the door that opens

Where they pass beyond our call,

As soft as loosened leaves of roses.

One by one our loved ones fall.

Thoughts of you come drifting back,

Within our dreams to stay.

To know that you are resting.

When twilight ends the day,

Sadly missed by Mother, Father, brother and sister.

Conferees Ask Approval of Tax Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate House conference committee has recommended approval of a 900-page tax reform bill calling for $1,363,000,000 in tax relief for individuals and corporations.

A move also may be made in the Senate to reject the conference committee's recommendations, primarily because of the provision put into the bill calling for tax relief for persons receiving income from dividends.

Most of the individual tax relief would go to taxpayers with income from dividends, to taxpayers with high medical expenses, to elderly persons living on retirement income, and to working widows, widowers, divorced persons or low-income couples who hire a baby sitter or nursemaid to care for children while they work.

Corporations would benefit thru more liberal depreciation allowances and thru numerous changes in the laws on the methods required for computing and filing tax returns. On the other side of the ledger, corporations would have to continue to pay for another year a maximum income tax rate of 52 per cent, compared with the 47 per cent rate which became effective April 1.

The compromise bill, which failed to win the unanimous support of the entire conference committee, will be considered by the House early next week and probably by the Senate late next week.

Reps. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn.) and John D. Dingell (D-Mich.) House Democratic members of the conference committee, did not approve the bill. They may ask the House to reject it, although they are not given much chance of success.

A move also may be made in the Senate to reject the conference committee's recommendations, primarily because of the provision put into the bill calling for tax relief for persons receiving income from dividends.

Under this provision, a person receiving income from dividends would get a four per cent tax credit on the income from this source. In addition, the first $50 of dividend income would be excluded from taxation altogether.

Nixon Calls for Americans to Contribute To Indochina Relief

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon called on Americans Wednesday night to contribute to Indochinese war relief regardless of how they feel about military and political decisions made in Viet Nam.

"We Americans may disagree with military and political decisions that have been made in Viet Nam," Nixon said. "But certainly we do not wish—nor dare—to turn our backs upon these victims of the war."

Nixon made his statement in appealing for support of a new CARE campaign to send relief to Indochina. CARE is the Cooperative for American Remittances to Everywhere, Inc., which has sent millions of parcels to the needy overseas.

Says Japan Will Stand Firm Against Reds

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW And EARNEST HOBRECHT United Press Staff Correspondents

TOKYO (UPI) — "Japan can be counted on by the free world to stand firm against Communism aggression," Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida told the United Press in an exclusive interview today.

"As for Japan itself," he said, "the danger of Communism is not from within. Japan realizes she is semi-encircled by Communist nations on the mainland of Asia and is fully alert to the dangers."

The assurances about new Japan's future role in Asia came from the small but tough former career diplomat who now presides over his fifth postwar cabinet. He has led his country longer than any premier. Although opposition forces have tried many times to unseat him, he still firmly controls the government and even Japanese political experts who favor his downfall admit there is no single acknowledged potential successor in sight.

Infuriates Opponents

He infuriates the opposition parties by dozing while they are speaking against him during debates in the national Diet and by replying with short, brisk answers to their questions.

The 76-year-old prime minister spoke with a smile and a youthful twinkle in his eye as he appraised Japan's position in Asia today.

He well realizes her assets and liabilities—and feels she will come through successfully in the end.

His policies are to restore Japan to full economic and political independence, and he feels this can best be accomplished by keeping the island nation aligned with the West.

Since the signing of the Japanese peace treaty in San Francisco, he has signed a mutual defense pact with the United States and has cooperated fully with the United Nations forces in their anti-Communist struggle in Korea.

Cool To SEATO

The prime minister feels his nation cannot participate in the proposed Southeast Asia security pact, for the twin reasons that it has not been invited and in any event is precluded from military cooperation by Article Nine of the ready-made constitution invented by the United States and presented to Japan during the occupation.

Earlier in the day, Japanese foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki told one of the correspondents the Diet was not contemplating any legislation to amend or liberalize Article Nine, but said scholars were analyzing it to establish the maximum scope permitted under its exact language.

Okazaki also said Japan believes she should increase her trade in non-strategic items with Red China even though Japan will not recognize the Peiping regime.

Prepare for Driver Test, Carpenter Asks

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter has recommended that all persons who must take the drivers license examination prepare themselves for it in advance by studying the current provisions of Illinois traffic laws.

Thirty-two changes were made in the Uniform Act Regulating Traffic on Highways in the last session of the Legislature, he pointed out. The provisions of that Act, as it now reads, are explained in "Rules of the Road," a booklet distributed free by the Secretary of State's office. Copies of the booklet may be obtained at drivers license examining stations throughout the state or by writing to Charles F. Carpenter, secretary of state, Springfield, Illinois.

Things Driver Should Know

As a guide, Mr. Carpenter listed the following things an applicant should know before taking the test:

Your car should be in good mechanical condition.

Keep both hands on the wheel; do not put your arm on the window ledge.

Observe posted speed limits at all times.

Come to a complete stop at every stop sign.

Keep in the proper lane; do not cross the center line, do not straddle lanes.

Give the proper hand and arm signals for turning and stopping; hand and arm extended horizontally for left turn; hand and arm extended upward for right turn; hand and arm extended downward for slow or stop.

Be sure you can park parallel between two other cars.

Reckless driving is operating a motor vehicle in willful or wanton disregard for the safety of persons or property.

Dim Headlights

At night, dim your headlights when within not less than 350 feet from an approaching car.

A flashing yellow light means slow down and proceed with caution.

A flashing red light means come to a complete stop.

The lights on a car must be turned off from sunset to sunrise.

The foot brake on your car must be capable of stopping it within 30 feet when you are traveling 20 miles an hour.

Always park your car at least 20 feet from a pedestrian crossing at an intersection.

If you change your name by marriage or change your address, notify the secretary of state within 10 days.

If you should lose your license, apply for a duplicate at once.

It is against the law to drive at such a slow rate of speed that you impede the normal flow of traffic.

Learn Road Signs

Never overtake and pass another car when on a curve or when approaching the crest of a hill.

When you have passed another car on the left, return to the right hand lane as soon as you have safely cleared the other car.

All hand and arm signals should

Report Allies to Begin Talks on Asia Defense Pact

GENEVA (UPI) — Authoritative diplomatic sources said today the Western Allies have agreed to open immediate negotiations on a southeast Asian defense pact against Communist aggression.

The discussions will be taken up through diplomatic channels among the United States, Britain, France, Australia and New Zealand, these sources said.

More formal talks probably will be held later in Washington.

Thailand and the Philippines will be fully consulted on the pact plans, it was explained.

The three Associated States of Indochina will be excluded since they were "neutralized" and barred from entering any foreign pact under terms of the Indochina settlement reached at Geneva.

The Colombo powers — India, Burma, Ceylon, Pakistan and Indonesia — will be kept informed, at Britain's insistence. The hope is to have them ultimately associate with any future southeast Asian defense arrangement.

If they refuse to join as full members, as they are expected to do, they may be offered associate memberships in the projected defense setup.

Centralia Asks Stratton to Declare State of Emergency

CENTRALIA, Ill. (UPI) — Mayor Robert Washburn has asked Gov. William G. Stratton to declare a state of emergency here because of a water shortage.

Washburn said Wednesday the low level of water in Lake Centralia killed thousands of fish and made the water unfit for use.

Raccoon Lake, the city's other reservoir, was down to an average level of less than 3 1/2 feet and dropped several inches a week, Washburn said.

The mayor said a declaration of the emergency would permit the city to request pipe from the civil defense organization for a pipeline to the Kaskaskia River.

Robert Ray, director of the Kaskaskia Development Project, suggested the Army engineers build a temporary dam on the Kaskaskia near Carlyle and said damming the river would free Marion and Clinton counties from water shortages.

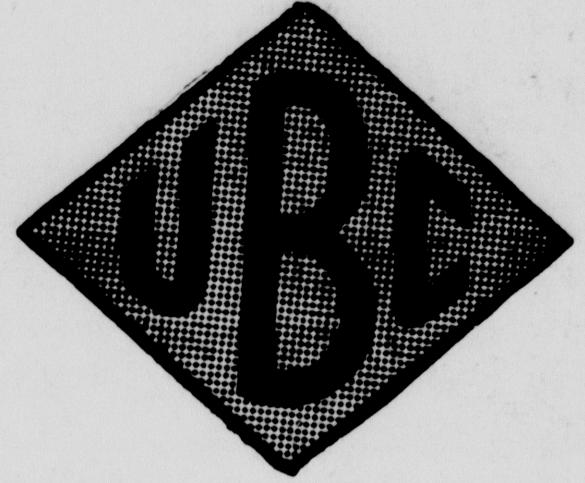

Automotive Hint

After a brake relining job on an automobile, a certain amount of brake drag may be noticeable, but this will pass away as the high spots on the lining begin to wear away.

be given not less than 100 feet from the point at which the turn or stop is to be made.

Do not overtake and pass another car when within 100 feet of any bridge, viaduct or tunnel or when within 100 feet of crossing any intersection or railroad crossing.

I. Owen Foster, Distinguished Educator, Credits Task, Friendships at HTHS for His Life Work

Charles Oakley, Wife Win Trip to Bermuda At Lions Meeting

A task given to a Harrisburg high school youth more than 40 years ago and the friendship and professional challenge which grew out of the association so influenced the life and work of the boy, turned man, that he has become an outstanding educator.

Today, I. Owen Foster holds the position of State Director of Curriculum in the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, Indianapolis, Ind., and for the past 28 years has served as professor of education at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

He was born at Emma, Illinois, June 1, 1895, the son of Dr. I. A. and Della (Belt) Foster. He came to Saline county early in 1907 with his mother and step-father, Thomas J. Smith, a native of Elizabethtown, Hardin county.

Foster recalls that although the family was relatively poor financially, it was rich in love and spiritual values, and that he and his brother, Grover, were very much a part of it. The family first lived near Pankerville and Saline Valley in this area, and later near Ingram Hill, Walnut Grove, East Bedford and in Harrisburg. Both the mother and step-father lived in this community until their deaths.

As a student at HTHS, young Foster helped organize the debating team and received medals in 1913, 1914, and 1915 for his outstanding work. In the Lowell-Emersonian contests, he took first place (gold medal) for an oration in 1913, and gained the same recognition for a reading in 1914.

As a youth in this community, Owen Foster toiled on the farm and later on an oil truck. At one time he worked in Bedford's Drug store and on another occasion assisted The Daily Register in obtaining its initial subscription list.

After graduation from the local high school in June 1915, he attended Southern Illinois University in 1916-17 and was graduated from the University of Illinois with a B. S. degree in 1921. He continued his education at the university, receiving a masters in 1922 and the doctor of philosophy degree in 1925.

While attending the University of Illinois, Foster was a member of the Kappa Delta Pi and the Phi Delta Kappa. He served as vice-president and then president of Pi Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa in the years 1920-21 and 1921-22.

At one time Foster taught at East Bedford and Stanford and at the University high school at SIU, Carbondale. Later he served as superintendent of schools at Enfield and Odlin, head of the department of Social Studies and Assistant principal, University high school, Urbana, and head of the department of History and Director of Summer Session, Battle Creek college. In 1926, he accepted the position of professor of education at Indiana university.

The task given Foster while a student at HTHS and friendship which started him toward goal, grew out of a totally unexpected incident which occurred one Monday morning in the Spring of 1915. Foster recalls it thusly:

"Principal Harry Taylor, at our opening exercise period surprised a great many of us by stating before the assembly that the teacher of mathematics and coach 'would never teach another class in this high school again.' Then he ordered the first period classes to pass. Stepping down from the platform he asked me to come into the office. I began to wonder what I had done. But as we walked through the double doors and along the short corridor, he put his arm around me and said, 'I want you to take over all of Mr. 's classes.'

"I recognized the size of the job confronting me, especially since I was a student in one of his classes. I immediately said, 'What should I do if I meet a mathematical situation which I can't handle?'

He replied, 'Come to me or to Bonnell and we will see you through.'

"Fortunately, for the last six weeks of school, I did not have to call upon either Mr. Taylor or Mr. Bonnell, but this incident brought me into a wonderfully fine relationship with both of these great teachers. And growing out of this incident, came a friendship and professional challenge which have influenced my life and work tremendously."

Inheriting a generous portion of intelligence from both parents, and receiving a fine background of love and spiritual values from his home life, he was well endowed to accept the challenge and carry it to success. Foster's life has not been without its hardship however.

In December 1917, he married Claudia Woolard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Woolard, of Galatia. To this union were born four children—two boys and two girls. Mrs. Foster died in September 1933, while the children were still very young. An exemplary father, revered mother and an understanding and helpful step-mother, guided them toward the laudable accomplishments which are theirs today.

Louise, now 32, is the holder of the B. S. and M. D. degrees from Indiana University, the wife of Dr. Merrill T. Eaton Jr. of Kansas City, and the mother of two children, Deirdre and Tommy. She practices psychiatry in the Child Guidance Clinic while her husband is Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Kansas Medical School.

Second daughter, Mabel Ruth, now 30, likewise holds the B. S. and M. D. degrees from Indiana University. She is a State College physician and practices medicine at West Liberty, West Virginia. Her husband, Benjamin H. Honeck-

I. Owen Foster Jr., 28, is a graduate of Indiana University and a chemical engineer who this month is being transferred from Harvey, Ill., to Terre Haute, Ind. His company analyzes coal and oil. I. O. Jr. is married and has two children, Mike and Doug.

The second son, Delmondo D., 23, is a member of the U. S. Air Force and only a couple weeks ago his ship, a B-36, made a non-stop flight from Spokane, Wash., to an airfield near London. The group will fly four to six missions over the continent and return to Spokane about the middle of August. Upon the expiration of his term of enlistment in December, he expects to enter Indiana University for one or more degrees.

In September 1935, Foster married Frances Campbell, of Pekin, Ind. Foster has two children by this marriage, Ann, 13, who will be a sophomore this fall and John Robert, 11.

Foster is a member of the Baptist church and is deeply interested in religious education and at the present time, in a new church structure in Bloomington. He is also a 32nd degree Mason, member of the Eastern Star, IOOF and Rebekahs. He holds membership in various professional education associations on local, state and national levels and is a past president of the Indiana Schoolmen's club.

Estimate 25.5 Billion Pounds of Meat Will Be Produced This Year

CHICAGO — The United States will produce 25½-billion pounds of meat this year, more than ever before in history, the American Meat Institute said.

An institute statement said production would be 3 per cent above last year and would compare with a previous record of 22,200,000,000 pounds in the war year of 1944.

However, the AMI said, consumption for each person will remain about the same as last year at approximately 154 pounds per person.

commencement address some fifteen years ago. He was also chosen by the Centennial committee of Hardin county to deliver the principal address at their celebration not long thereafter.

More recently, he has given the commencement address to the graduates of the Hardin county schools. The latter he lists as a distinct honor because there were in the class, graduates from the three elementary schools which he had attended between 1902 and 1907.

He is widely in demand as a commencement, educational and service club speaker, but he considers being asked to return "home" for such an occasion one of high honor.

Foster last visited in this community during the HTHS anniversary celebration of October 1953. A nephew, Richard Foster and family, a niece, Mrs. Thelma Powell and family, and a cousin, Mrs. Vergie Simpson and family, all still reside in Harrisburg. He also has numerous friends here.

FIRLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother. — Prov. 1:8.

Teen-agers imagine they have outgrown their parents' wisdom. When they in turn grow up they will realize the wisdom often lost on callow youth.

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The nation's major railroads currently run an annual deficit of around $700 million on their passenger business. There's really nothing sensational new about this.

Except in wartime, passenger traffic always has been a problem for the railroads. But now it looks as if they might be ready at last to do something bold about it.

A striking train called the Talgo, which has been in service in Spain for some time, has recently been tested by a busy eastern line. Orders have been placed by this road and another, and a number of other big carriers, are keenly interested.

The features of the Talgo are high speed, light weight, low original cost and maintenance. No conventional train can touch it on these counts.

The Talgo hugs the ground. In its recent eastern test, it was clocked at 102 miles an hour on standard trackage from Boston to New Haven. Its interior looks a little like the cabin of a large airliner, and the resemblance is fitting.

With that kind of speed, the railroads could give the airlines fairly good schedule competition on short-haul travel, where times are figured from one city center to another.

For example, while you can fly from New York to Washington in just over an hour, you will probably take longer than that getting to and from the airports at each end of the trip. A fast train could be a more attractive prospect.

The speed of the lightweight train is the magnet for passengers. What makes it so appealing to the harassed railroaders is its cost. Being of lighter metals and lighter construction generally, its original price is far below that of the existing trains in America.

Its weight means fabulously lower fuel consumption for the locomotive power. Other operating costs likewise would be smaller. And, once more, the light weight reduces the wear and tear on the rails and thus save on right-of-way maintenance.

The Talgo, of course, is not the only lightweight train in the world. The new board chairman of New York Central, Robert R. Young, has talked a good deal about the experimental "Train X," which evidently has strong parallels with the Talgo.

Many modifications of the general idea are possible. Somebody spoke the other day about a train of Fiberglas, with a shell which could be molded in a single piece, thus doing away with riveting and welding.

The important thing is that the railroads are really serious in tackling their passenger problem imaginatively. If they carry through, a new era in railroading may follow. Certainly the lines deserve every encouragement. Their financial soundness is tightly bound up with the economic health and the security of the country.

and if he is going to be unseated, you gentlemen," he remarked. Last week Dulles appeared in another closed-door committee meeting to report on Indo-China and Geneva. This time he was sick and listless. He looked pale and tired. All the fight had gone out of him. It almost seemed as if he had surrendered to Bill Knowland as secretary of state.

CHINESE MONEY BAGS

Unlike some senators who got interested in Chiang Kai-Shek partly because of the lush campaign funds doled out by the China lobby, Knowland got interested in Nationalist China the legitimate way.

It happens that the biggest Chinese population in the U. S. A.

lies in his state—just across San Francisco Bay from his home town of Oakland where Knowland's father publishes one of the most powerful newspapers in California.

The leaders of San Francisco's Chinatown have been among Knowland's biggest backers: also officials of the Bank of China.

From this beginning Knowland got to know Nationalist China. Visited General MacArthur in Tokyo, talked to Chiang Kai-Shek in Formosa. To him, Nationalist China eventually became not a campaign issue, but a religion.

Nixon's Senate election campaign in 1950 was bountifully aided by Louie Kung, nephew of Chiang Kai-Shek. But Knowland's interest is based on the crusading conviction that some day Chiang can stage a comeback, retake the polyglot provinces and 400 millions of the Chinese mainland. He believes this so sincerely, has talked about it so much, that Californians call him "the senator from Formosa."

Knowland is a man of brawn, not brains; sincere, honest, sometimes mistaken, loyal. If it had not been for his loyalty, Knowland might be President of the United States today.

At the 1952 convention in Chicago, Knowland could have been the vice-presidential running mate of the late Senator Taft, which in view of Taft's death would have made him president, if the ticket had triumphed. He also got a proposition from Taft that if Knowland would throw the weight of the powerful California delegation to Taft, and if Taft did not make the nomination by the third ballot, then Taft in turn would throw his own delegates to Knowland to make him President.

Few young politicians have been so tempted. But Knowland refused.

He remained loyal to Gov. Earl Warren of California, also a candidate for President and the man who years before had appointed young Knowland to the Senate. Knowland did not desert the man who made him.

NIXON WAS DIFFERENT

Another young Californian did turn his back on the California delegation and made a backstage deal with the Eisenhower forces to become Ike's vice-presidential running mate.

Rivality between these two Califonians — Nixon and Knowland — may partly explain why Knowland now finds himself challenging the leadership of his own Republican President and secretary of state on foreign policy. There are probably two reasons for this challenge:

1. Knowland has talked so much about China that he has come to believe his own words — always a dangerous thing for a politician.

2. It happens that Nixon has been in a backstage conspiracy to unseat Knowland as Republican Senate leader and replace him next year with Senator Dirksen of Illinois.

Already Nixon has talked to other senators about plan to channel Senate-White House problems through him, not Knowland, secretary of state. The cross-examination was so relentless.

Red China, that tears came to Dulles' eyes.

Naturally Knowland knows this;

"It seems impossible to please

Ricky got out of his car and walked back to Link's yellow convertible. When he did, Chub and Sherm got out of their cars and walked to the same place, but standing a little apart. Link stayed where he was.

Ricky had spoken bravely to Sharon, but his legs were trembling as he stood beside Link's car. He'd started to make his play, and the guys were waiting to see how he finished it. Link's insulting, arrogant smirk was clearly visible as he lounged behind the steering wheel. Ricky looked tall and slight in his dark slacks and crisp white shirt.

"What's the idea?" Ricky demanded, his voice uncontrollably shrill. "Nerfing me!"

"Don't you like it?"

"No, I don't. I'm telling you to quit."

"You and who else?"

"I don't need anybody else."

"Big talk from a small boy."

"Big enough to back it up."

"Yeah?"

Chub and Sherm stood by quietly, neutral, and curious.

Link studied Ricky's angry face, and it helped him work up the anger he needed for the occasion.

"Come on, if you're not yellow."

"Don't you call me yellow!"

Link scrambled out of the convertible, a look of hatred on his face.

Ronnie Tanner Honored With Birthday Party

Ronnie Tanner was honored Saturday, July 17, with a party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tanner.

Games were played and prizes awarded to Gary VanMeter and Steve Cummins.

Following the opening of the many nice gifts, refreshments of cake, Dixie Cups and Kool-Aid were served and favors of balloons and bubble gum given.

Those present to help celebrate the occasion were Gary and Kenny VanMeter, Ricky Milburn, Lindel Knowles, Chris Field, Joyce Martin, Vickie Knowles, Becky Meier, Dianne Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Knowles and Janet Mae, Ruby Meier and Arla, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tanner and Ginger and the honored guest, Ronnie Tanner.

"What has been said in this respect is pure legend," she added in an interview with the Lisbon newspaper, Diario de Noticias. With the title Princess Helena, Carol's widow has continued to live quietly at the nearby Estoril chateau, Mar-a-Lambrino.

"The king carried hardly anything from Romania," she said. "All he had is there. His life in exile was always modest and honorable."

A three-way legal battle is under way in Lisbon courts for Carol's estate. Besides his widow, the contestants are Carol's son by his second marriage, ex-King Michael, and Mirca Lambrino of Paris. Lambrino filed claims on grounds he is Carol's son by Carol's youthful morganatic marriage to Joana Lambrino.
